Resene kids art with Mark Rayner – 40

You will need:

- Bubble wrap
- Cardboard box
- Ice cream container
- Paintbrushes
- Resene Quick Dry waterborne primer undercoat
- Resene Testpots in the following colours: Resene Grass Stain, Resene Guardsman Red and Resene Space Cadet
- Scissors
- Wide sticky tape or parcel tape

Step one

Strengthen the base of the box by fixing sticky tape along the joins – cut the sticky tape with scissors.

Step two

Open up the top flaps of the box and fix together on both sides with sticky tape.

Step three

Paint the entire box with one coat of Resene Quick Dry waterborne primer undercoat, allowing one hour to dry.

Step four

Paint the inside of the box with two coats of Resene Space Cadet, allowing two hours for each coat to dry.

Step five

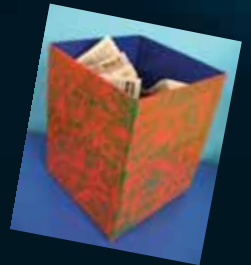

Paint the outside of the box with two coats of Resene Guardsman Red, allowing two hours for each coat to dry.

Step six

Tip a little Resene Grass Stain into an ice cream container and dip a piece of crunched up bubble wrap into the paint. Lightly dab the bubble wrap on the outside of the box, creating a textured pattern, as shown. Once finished, allow to dry for two hours – then get tidying!

Turn a plain cardboard box into a groovy wastepaper bin with the help of a few Resene Testpots and some bubble wrap.

Top tip:

If you want a shiny finish on your wastepaper bin, just apply one coat of Resene Multishield+ gloss once the final coat of paint is dry.

Here's another idea:

Transform a Resene paint pot into a mini wastepaper bin using testpots of Resene Turbo and Resene Resolution Blue.
