

Resene rainbow

What better way to brighten up a new fence than with a rainbow of Resene colours! By the children in ROOM 4 at KAIAPOI NORTH SCHOOL, with help from some awesome mums.

The junior classes at Kaiapoi North School have a new fence around their garden planter boxes, so they chose Resene paints to give the blank canvas a colourful lift.

MATERIALS

We used:
 Resene Quick Dry
 Resene Colour Me Pink
 Resene Cabaret
 Resene Blue Gem
 Resene Moody Blue
 Resene Tory Blue
 Resene Havelock Blue
 Resene Hullabaloo
 Resene Keppel
 Resene Japanese Laurel
 Resene Wham

An assortment of Resene paint brushes and rollers

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Ensure there are dropcloths laid on the concrete area first, in case there are spills or splashes of paint. And make sure you're wearing your old painting clothes, too.
2. Paint the entire fence with Resene Quick Dry. This is an excellent undercoat because, as the name suggests, it dries quickly.
3. You can choose any colours you like, but we thought these colours all looked great together. We've used Resene Wham as our main colour (on the trims and edges), as it matched some poles on a nearby classroom block.
4. We painted the fence inside and out – to make the area really POP with colour.
5. Wrap brushes in cling wrap between coats to keep the paint moist and save washing up for the second coat of Resene colour.
