

Out of the woods

Relax into the festive season by fashioning festive candleholders in four fresh shades of green

Give your home a Christmas glow with these simple candlesticks crafted from wooden sofa feet. They look great in a group and make cute gifts too.

YOU WILL NEED

Candles

Drill and wood bit

Wooden sofa feet (from hardware stores)

Sandpaper

Resene testpots in your chosen colours

Paint brush

Construction adhesive

1 Measure the diameter of your candles. Using a drill fitted with a wood bit of the same diameter (our bit was 22mm), drill a hole in the middle of a sofa foot so the candle can sit snugly and securely inside. Don't drill all the way through.

2 Sand off any rough edges.

3 Paint each of the feet in a shade of green. We chose Resene Permanent Green, Resene Laurel, Resene Parsley and Resene Gordons Green. Apply 2 coats for a good finish, letting it dry in between.

4 To make an arrangement of different heights, glue a second painted sofa foot onto the base of some of your candleholders using construction adhesive.
