

THE COLOURS OF AUTUMN TERRACOTTA

For an elemental, nature-inspired colour with a truly contemporary feel, terracotta simply can't be beaten. With a hint of spice, these rich colours evoke warmth and carry with them a sense of exoticism.

SHADES OF THE SEASON

In Eastern spice markets, baskets of saffron, nutmeg, turmeric, cinnamon, cayenne and coriander perfume the air and offer a feast for the eyes. You can recreate the visual appeal of a Moroccan market in your own home by decorating with a palette of spicy paint colours. These zesty shades bring a distinctive elegance to any room. Spicy colours can be toasty warm or fiery hot and range from soothing to stimulating depending on their tone - and how and where you use them. While beautiful, some spicy shades can overwhelm a home if used to excess. When choosing a palette of spicy paint colours, select one or two main shades and add a few complementary colours as accents. This room is painted in Resene Cumin (bottom half) and Resene Whiskey Sour with dry brushed Resene Cashmere.
