

The only time we offer tradesmen a choice of just two colours.

It's when you're offered a nice hot cuppa, while your paint's getting a shake up, that your colour choice stops at two.

You guessed it – black or white.

But there's no limit on anything else we offer the trade.

Because at Resene we realise that there's nothing more important than looking after the people who have looked after us.

Resene

The paint the professionals use.
